XII. On a Collection of Fishes, Batrachians, and Reptiles, made by Mr. S. A. Neave in Rhodesia, North of the Zambesi, with Field Notes by the Collector.

By G. A. BOULENGER, F.R.S.

Received and read March 26th, 1907.

All localities are North Eastern Rhodesia unless specially recorded otherwise. All fishes are from waters within the Zambesi watershed.

Feira at the junction of the Zambesi and Loangwa rivers.

Mezi River, a tributary of the left bank of the Loangwa, in Portuguese territory.

Mterize River, a tributary of the left bank of the Loangwa, in British territory.

The Lukashashi River, a big tributary of the R. bank of the Lusenfwa, which itself is a tributary of the Loangwa.

The Msofu River, a tributary of the Lusenfwa, on the Alala Plateau.

The Kafulafuta River is a tributary of the Kafue River.

The Mbala Country is some high open country to the S.E. of Petauke.

Petauke is the Government Station in the E. Loangwa district.

"In the Petauke stream amongst the mountains Native name, 'Nkulamawe.'" Discovered by Mr. J. ff. Darling in the Salisbury district of Mashonaland (cf. P. Z. S., 1902, part 2, p. 14, pl. 2, fig. 2).

9. Barbus miolepis, Blgr.
1094 and 14 others. Petauke. December 27, 1905.
This species was originally described (*Ann. Mus.
Conga, Zool.*, vol. 2, p. 31, pl. 9, fig. 1, 1902) from a single specimen from the Yembe River (Ubanghi).
"In the Petauke stream amongst the mountains.
Native name 'Kolwela.'"

10. Barilius neavii, sp. n.

1092 and 10 others. Petauke. December 27, 1905.
Depth of body $3\frac{2}{3}$ to $4\frac{1}{3}$ times in the total length, length of head $3\frac{1}{2}$ to 4 times. Snout obtusely pointed, longer than the eye, which is 4 to $4\frac{1}{2}$ times in length of head; mouth extending to below anterior third or centre of eye; no barbels. Dorsal II 9—10, with straight or convex upper border, nearly equally distant from the head and from the root of the caudal fin; longest ray $\frac{2}{3}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ length of head. Anal III—IV 11—12, with produced anterior lobe, originating below middle of dorsal; longest ray $\frac{3}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ length of head. Pectoral $\frac{5}{6}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ length of head, reaching or nearly reaching root of ventral. Caudal fin deeply forked, lower lobe longer than upper. Caudal peduncle 2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ times as long as deep.
Sq. 42—45 $\frac{7\frac{1}{2}}{4\frac{1}{2}}$, 3 between lateral line and ventral. Silvery, brownish on the back; 8 or 9 blackish bars, or pairs of bars on each side; the membrane between some or all of the dorsal and anal rays black.

Total length 60 to 110 millimetres.
Distinguished from the closely allied B. zambezensis, Peters, by the longer eye, the presence of 3 series of scales between the lateral line and the ventral, the larger size, and the coloration.

PELOMEDUSIDÆ.

3. Sternothærus sinuatus, A. Smith.

1088. Petauke, N.E. Rhodesia. December 7, 1905.

4. Sternothærus nigricans, Donnd.

1078. Mosofu River. November 6, 1905.

1081. Near Chiwalli's, Alala Plateau, N.W. Rhodesia. November 18, 1905.

The latter specimen may be referred to the typical form, the former to the var. castanea, Schw., as defined by Siebenrock (in Voeltzkow, "Reis. Ostafri." vol. 2, p. 34, 1906).

a. (1081) Length of shell, 90 millim.; width, 74; depth, 39. "Tympano-frontal" suture very short; suture between the humeral shields shorter than the intergular.

b. (1078) Length of shell, 100 millim.; width, 70; depth, 42. "Tympano-frontal" suture longer; suture between the humeral shields as long as the intergular.

According to Siebenrock, the true S. nigricans would be confined to the East Coast of Madagascar.

"Tortoises of various species are common in the country, especially during the rains. Native name, 'Furo.' Judging by the number of skeletons seen, large numbers must be eaten by the ground Hornbill (Bucorvus caffer)."
